

Period Positive Workplace Certification

Aunt Flow is teaming up with Days for Girls to support companies in obtaining a Period Positive Workplace certification!

What is a Period Positive Workplace?

A Period Positive Workplace supports employee wellbeing and gender equality by providing free period products in the workplace.

Why employers join

- ✦ Highlight your commitment to employee wellbeing.
- ✦ Earn an additional certification to strengthen your credentials.
- ✦ Signal to employees, customers, and stakeholders that you take menstrual equity seriously.

Why It Matters

- ✦ 9 out of 10 employees who menstruate feel stress or anxiety about their period at work.
- ✦ Only 3% of employees believe their employers do enough to support people who menstruate.
- ✦ 80% of PPW employees said managing menstruation was easy after their workplace became certified, compared to 15% before.

Here's how you qualify

- ✦ Provide free period products in or near bathrooms.
- ✦ Make sure bathrooms are safe, clean, well-lit, ventilated, lockable, and include handwashing, soap/sanitizer, toilet paper, and a waste bin.
- ✦ Inform employees through a formal notice that period products are available and will continue to be provided.

✦. Ready to become certified? ✦

Complete the PPW certification form! Or learn more about Period Positive Workplace

Certified Companies will also receive additional informational materials from Period Positive Workplace once they complete their certification. The Period Positive Workplace certification is a coalition effort led by the Period Positive Workplace Coalition [Days for Girls, ISSA, EGAL Satellite, and the Pad Project]. Aunt Flow is a proud supporting partner.